About HACLA

The Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles (HACLA) was established in 1938 by City of Los Angeles Resolution No. 1241. HACLA has grown to become one of the nation’s largest and leading public housing authorities, providing the largest supply of quality affordable housing to residents of the City of Los Angeles.

HACLA’s annual budget exceeds $1 billion. Its funds come from five main sources: HUD’s annual operating subsidy, HUD’s annual Capital Fund, Section 8 rental subsidies, public housing rent plus other program and capital grants from various sources. HACLA continues to explore alternative funding sources and has built numerous key partnerships with City and State agencies, nonprofit foundations, community-based organizations and private developers.

How Affordable Is Public Housing?

- Families in public housing pay no more than 30% of their income for rent. HUD subsidies make up the difference.
- Average family monthly income in public housing is $2,035 ($24,424 annually), Average monthly rent is $455
- 66% of resident income is from wages, 7.6% of resident income is from public assistance, 21.4% of resident income is from social security, SSI, pension, veteran's benefits, etc., 5% from other sources.
- 38% of residents are 0-17, 50% of residents are 18 - 60, and 12% of residents are 61 and over.
HACLA will preserve its existing affordable housing supply of over 83,000* units while ensuring these units are both safe and clean and will spearhead a collaborative effort to significantly increase the supply of affordable housing in LA.

HACLA is committed to preserving, enhancing, and expanding deeply affordable housing and improving the quality of life for Angelenos with a focus on People, Place and Pathways to Opportunity.
